BEN URI ART GALLERY

The Ben Uri Art Society was founded in London in 1915 by a young Jewish decorative artist named Berson, and since 1944 has been established at 14 Portman Street, W.1, known as the Ben Uri Art Gallery.

The primary object of the Society is to acquire, by purchase, gift and bequest, a permanent and representative collection of paintings, sculpture and drawings by Jewish artists irrespective of style or period.

Activities include the arranging of exhibitions of special interest, lectures, cultural and artistic gatherings, chamber music concerts, etc.

The Studio Group, organised by and for the younger members of the Society, includes among its activities a Life Group, Music Circle and a Play Reading Group.

The Ben Uri Art Gallery is the centre where artists, musicians and writers, and others who have a true interest in the cultural life of the community, foregather. Membership is open to all who are in sympathy with the work of the Society.

Further information can be obtained from the Secretary, to whom application for membership should be made.
